Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 16 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Unsettled, with bright spells and spells of heavy rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain eases by the early evening, and skies will temporarily clear for some, leaving mild but breezy conditions. Further occasionally heavy rain crosses the country during the small hours, mostly clearing away to the east by dawn. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Any lingering rain soon clears, allowing bright and dry conditions for a time. Winds strengthen though as further rain pushes northwards in the afternoon, passing over all areas by evening. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Heavy rain on Thursday morning soon clears to leave sunshine and blustery showers. Coastal gales developing Friday with further rain, heavy at times, moving in and continuing into Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.